Mott Street Parking Prohibition

The increase in usage of the natural resources in the areas around Milford, especially hiking and swimming in the streams and river, has brought more visitors and cars to Milford borough.

While we welcome all visitors, and encourage their use of all the natural resources and borough venues, public safety requirements have led us to limit non-resident parking access to certain narrow streets that serve as gateways to scenic activities, such as Mott Street. As a dead-end street, with only one vehicular access, it is vital that Mott Street be accessible for emergency responders.

Other nearby streets are open for general parking. Visitors are encouraged to park and enjoy as pedestrians the activities in and around Milford, including those accessed via Mott Street.
